SCS TODAY: August 12, 2020
[A late-day M-W-F update from the SCS Dean's Office]

WELCOME to all first-year undergraduate Computer Science majors! I'm proud and excited to have you join us in the School of Computer Science at CMU and I look forward to getting to know you during this academic year and the years ahead! For now, you're receiving SCS TODAY on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons via email. I hope you find these quick news/updates for everyone in SCS to be helpful and informative as you start your time with us and begin your college career.

ATTENTION FALL 2020 INSTRUCTORS
— If you'll be teaching from campus this fall (e.g., in-person-plus-remote), plan to attend this Zoom session hosted by the Eberly Center and Computing Services to introduce you to standard classroom A/V and how-to steps for using it to enact a few key instructional scenarios.
Monday, August 17, 2 - 3 p.m., https://cmu.zoom.us/j/4122681112
While I encourage real-time attendance, the session will be recorded.
— Be sure to check out the Teaching Online and Hybrid Classrooms web sites, also prepared by Computing Services and the Eberly Center.

FOR ANYONE RETURNING TO CAMPUS
— NEW for students, faculty, researchers and staff: Daily Self-Assessment. Remember to complete the daily self-assessment (your Andrew ID is required) each day you plan to be on campus. Your privacy is assured; the university tracks log-ins to the assessment but your specific answers remain anonymous.

UNIVERSITY POLICY UPDATE
— An Interim Sexual Misconduct Policy is being adopted for the 2020-21 academic year, during which a full policy review process will occur to allow for community engagement and input prior to the adoption of a final policy.

Until Friday,
----- Martial
